Our teachers and other caring adults at school might look different in their masks, but they are so excited to see us! We can see our old friends and make new friends too.

KELSEY DAVIS

It is okay to have big feelings about going back to school in-person. Maybe we feel excited or happy! Maybe we feel scared or nervous. Maybe we feel curious. All of those feelings are okay.

Eat a good breakfast and use the bathroom at home. Your caregiver will make sure that you are healthy before getting ready for school. We will all put on our masks before leaving our homes.

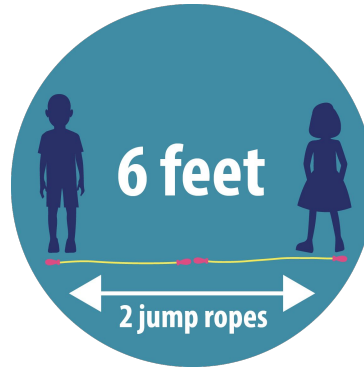

In our backpacks, we need to pack a water bottle full of water, a healthy snack, fully charged Chromebook, Chromebook charger, and other materials for your class.

We'll say goodbye to our caregivers in the car or at the gate.

Make sure that you enter school at the right time and at the right gate. We will need to keep our masks on and stay 6 feet apart from others.

TK/Kindergarten Pick Up Gates

In our classroom, we will do most of our learning at our desks. It may feel strange to sit apart from our friends, but we'll sit this way so we don't share our germs.

When using the bathroom or walking in the hallway, we will still stay six feet apart. We will stay with our class and can wave from a distance to friends from other classes.

We will eat our snack outside. It's okay to take your mask off while you are sitting down eating. We will eat our snack outside to enjoy the fresh air.

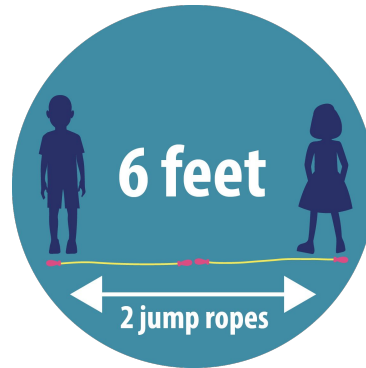

We will have recess outdoors to keep our bodies healthy. Each class will have a special place to play. We will play with kids in our class 6 feet apart!

We will eat our lunches at home. Some of you may want to take home a bagged lunch to eat.

We will exit out the same gate that we entered in the morning except TK and Kindergarten.

For TK and Kindergarten, we will exit out different gates by classroom.

We miss you and can't wait to see you soon!
